The mission of NLPA is to create a professional community that advances psychological work and organizational change to strengthen Latinx communities. In line with our mission, the theme and logo of our conference want to inspire and mobilize our participants to advocate for justice and equality for all Latinxs. Through a social justice and liberation psychology lens we want to inform and provide tools to conceptually and practically address the systemic issues that impact our Latinx communities and families.

This year the conference will provide the following tracks to the presenters in order to accommodate presenters and audiences needs and complexities: (1) Students, (2) Early Career-Professionals, (3) Professionals, (4) Practitioners, (5) Researchers, (6) Advocates, and (7) Educators.
Each track will have emphasis in 14 different areas such as: (1) Conferencia Theme, (2) Family, (3) Feminism, (4) Community/Liberation Psychology, (5) School/Education, (6) Clinical/Counseling Psychology, (7) Forensic/Law Psychology, (8) Health Psychology, (9) International Psychology, (10) Multicultural Psychology, (11) Psychometrics/Assessment, (12) Social/Human Development, (13) Stats (Quantitative), and (14) Stats (Qualitative).

NLPA and its Biennial Conference seek to create, maintain, and promote an inclusive and welcoming environment.

To submit a proposal, please visit http://nlpa2016.exordo.com/ or http://www.nlpaconference.org/ under abstracts and follow the online instructions. If you have questions about your proposal or about your submission please feel free to contact Edil Torres Rivera, Scientific Committee Chair at etorresrivera@gmail.com.

PROCEDURES

Please have all required information collected before logging on and have all first authors create an account before you submit your proposal. Please allow approximately 30 minutes to complete the proposal online; you may edit or add to your proposal at any time up until the due date of February 5, 2016.

If you are submitting a proposal for a symposium, it is strongly recommended that just one person enter all abstracts. Be sure to have all information, including complete, up to date contact information and accurate email addresses for all authors before beginning the process. You will be notified by e-mail that your proposal was received. All proposals will receive masked reviews by two reviewers. First authors will be notified via e-mail on or about April 8, 2016, regarding acceptance.

Note: One individual should not submit more than two proposals as first author and no more than four presentations (including roles as moderator, discussant, or co-author) altogether. CE Program Eligibility: Accepted proposals that will be considered for CEs will require presenters to provide additional documents shortly after notification of acceptance.

Equipment: LCD projector will be provided. Please bring your own computer.
